Report to Donors 2006/07

Vice-Chancellor's message of thanks

Dear friends,

It is wonderful to see so many names in this year's donor list. I would like to say thank you to everyone who has supported the University of Exeter during the year. Your support means so much to us. I hope you will be pleased to hear that in 2006/07 we raised over £2 million in donations and pledges. The Annual Fund, the University's annual fundraising programme, enjoyed its most successful year to date with in excess of 2,000 alumni and friends giving nearly £250,000.

Your gifts have helped to improve the lives of our students and to ensure that we build on our reputation as being firmly ranked in the premier league of UK universities. The donor report gives a glimpse into the impact that your donations have had during the year. The generous gifts we have received, however small or large, are making a big difference.

Thank you for giving so generously.

Steve Smith

Professor Steve Smith
Vice-Chancellor

We want to say
thank you to all of our alumni, friends, and other supporters

This donor list contains the names of individuals who made a gift to the University between August 1 2006 and July 31 2007. We are very grateful to those people who have requested anonymity for their donations, to those who have given through payroll giving, and to individuals who have told us that they made a pledge to the University in their Wills. We have made every effort to record your name correctly. If there are any errors please do tell us so that we can correct them.

Helping students to make a difference

University of Exeter students spend more than 100,000 hours each year helping groups in the local community. In the last year, donations have supported the vital work of student volunteers.

- £31,000 was awarded for two new Community Action minibuses used regularly by 144 children and 150 older people.
- £12,000 was given to support student volunteers to organise summer adventure holidays for local children over two years. Around 55 children from the local community took part in summer 2007.
- £1,940 was awarded for First Aid training for student volunteers.

"We could not have continued student-led projects without the support given by donors. This really shows that the gifts people have given are making a difference."
Sandra Loveday, Community Action Coordinator.

In 2007, the contribution to the community made by student volunteers was honoured at an awards ceremony. Politics student Owen Thomas was named 'Volunteer of the Year' after he carried out 780 hours of voluntary work in a year. Students who took part in RAG raised more than £45,000 for charity in 2006/07.

Coral reef research for Biosciences students

Biosciences students studied coral reefs at an international research centre, thanks to donors. The course was held at the Gerace Research Centre, San Salvador, in the Bahamas. The trip, in the summer of 2007, gave students the chance to carry out their own practical research into coral reefs, seagrass beds and mangroves. Thirty-two students studied the natural history, functioning and conservation of the ecosystem and produced detailed reports on their findings. The School of Biosciences was given £20,000 raised through the Annual Fund to help meet the cost of the trip for students.

World-class library facilities

As alumni and supporters will know, every generation of students depend on having knowledge at their fingertips. In 2006/07, grants totalling £134,000 were awarded to fund Library improvements. The grants paid for ten new laptops for loan to students, secure laptop storage facilities, and information display screens. A multimedia room has also been created with the latest sound and film editing equipment.

"By putting something back into the University, alumni and other donors are helping to provide today's students with the facilities and resources to help nurture their future career skills."

Martin Myhill, Assistant Director for Collections and Research Support.

University of Exeter 1st IV rowing at Henley Regatta in 1973

Supporting sporting excellence

The gifts of alumni and friends are helping our sportsmen and women to succeed. A grant of £6,000 was given this year to create a special training room for use by University rowers. "At the University of Exeter, there is a unique, lifetime bond between alumni and students," said student rower Robin Gerlach, from the Exeter University Boat Club. He added: "The support we have received from alumni has allowed us to be able to compete on the same level as other universities and beat them. That is why I would like to thank all of those who have supported us."

Alumnus Nicholas Bull

(Chemistry, 1973), a dedicated supporter of the University, said: "I spent most of my three years at Exeter rowing. We had some notable successes, particularly at British Universities Sports Association (BUSA) competitions and at Henley Regatta. I made a number of friends who I still see thirty five years on. It is a source of great satisfaction and pride for me to see Exeter crews winning at rowing; together with a very real sense that my own donation makes a difference."

Unlocking the Past

Archaeologists from the University of Exeter made a remarkable discovery in a dig supported by alumni. The Archaeology Exploration Fund has been awarded £20,000 to allow more students to take part in field expeditions. The grant enabled five student supervisors to attend an excavation at a medieval manor at Stokenham in Devon during 2007. One of the most fascinating finds was an ornate 15-cm-long iron key with a heart-shaped handle. Rebecca Miller, a postgraduate student in Experimental Archaeology, said: "Participating on the dig has provided me with invaluable work experience both in a supervisory role and in finds processing. It has greatly improved my confidence and has encouraged me to seek a career in archaeology."

Helping to nurture the spirit of learning

Freny Sepai is just one student who has benefited from a bursary to help fund their studies. The 24-year-old, whose daughter Pheroza is four, says the bursary has eased the financial pressures of coming to University. The second year Drama student has used the £600 bursary she receives each term to pay her rent and support her daughter. "The bursary has been really fantastic for both me and my daughter," said Freny.

Freny wants to work as a documentary filmmaker and writer once she has finished her course. She added: "Thank you for making it possible for me and others like me who have had this wonderful opportunity to go to University and focus more on learning than wondering where our next meal is coming from. For that I am extremely grateful."

Every donation counts

Every donation from alumni and friends helps the University of Exeter to invest in the future. Many improvements and initiatives funded recently would not have been possible without your support. Here are some of the many projects awarded grants in 2006/07:

£10,175 to install a wireless network and digital media improvements in the Alexander Building

£10,000 to help students at the School of Business and Economics attend business competitions

£8,000 for upgraded audio-visual and IT resources in the Foreign Language Centre and Department of Modern Languages

£20,000 towards a new beach volleyball court

£6,500 for a new Guild piano

£5,000 to support employability seminars

£19,200 towards vacation research scholarships in the School of Physics

£30,000 for new computers at the St Luke's campus

Meet our student callers

Over the last year you may have received a call from one of our student telethon callers working for the Annual Fund. The students who take part are able to explain why the support of alumni and friends is important to the current generation at the University. Our student callers also give people the chance to share their memories of Exeter and find out about the University's latest developments. Here some of our student callers talk about their experiences:

"I love being able to chat to our alumni and at the same time I feel that by fundraising I am able to give something positive and worthwhile back to Exeter."

Rachel Henderson
(English with Classical Studies, 3rd year)

"Working as part of the telethon team is a great opportunity to get more involved with the University, and discover the huge variety of things that graduates go on to do."

Charlotte Hay (English Literature, 2nd year)

"Working on the telethon enables you to gain a better understanding of the University and also to give something back to it. The skills gained in the job are transferable to all walks of life, and it is also interesting finding out what career paths alumni have chosen."

Tom Filer (French and Arabic, 2nd year)

£2 million cricket centre becomes a reality

Plans for a £2 million indoor cricket centre at the University of Exeter are being turned into reality after a successful fundraising initiative. The centre will provide training facilities for talented student cricketers as well as players in the community. A gift of £250,000 for the centre was donated by Honorary Graduate Sir Christopher Ondaatje, with an additional £1.5 million coming from donors and other sources including the England and Wales Cricket Board. The Sir Christopher Ondaatje Cricket Centre, which will have four indoor nets, is set to open in autumn 2008. The many other generous gifts we have received will not only assist in the construction of the building, but also help in furnishing it with new equipment such as cricket nets.

Recognising donors

The University of Exeter College of Benefactors has been established to honour individuals who have made a major contribution to the University.

His Highness Dr Sheikh Sultan bin Mohamed Al Qasimi, Member of the Supreme Council of the United Arab Emirates and Ruler of Sharjah, is the founding member.

Professor Steve Smith, Vice-Chancellor of the University, presented His Highness with the award at a ceremony in Sharjah during May 2007. "Admittance to the College of Benefactors demonstrates our appreciation of all that

His Highness has done for the University over more than two decades," said Professor Smith. The ceremony was attended by 125 Exeter alumni who live and work in the Gulf. His Highness is a graduate of the University of Exeter, having achieved a DPhil in 1985 and an honorary doctorate in 1993.

A gift to future generations

When she died in 2005, Lady Aileen Fox, an eminent archaeologist, left a share of her estate to the University. Lady Fox retired from the University of Exeter in 1972. Her bequest helped to create the Fox-Lawrence Fund, which provides research expenses for archaeology students. The generosity of Lady Fox, and others who have remembered the University by giving a legacy, have helped to make the University of Exeter what it is today. If you would like more information on supporting the University in this way, please contact us on +44 (0)1392 269011 or email legacies@exeter.ac.uk

Hugh Stubbs (History, 1968),

Chairman of the Legacy Committee, explains why he is supporting the University in his Will:

"I have included the University in my Will so that I can offer future generations of students the opportunities it gave me – in many ways I feel it is an important way of saying thank you. Your legacy, like mine, will help make a real difference to the lives of future generations of Exeter students."

Reasons to be proud of Exeter

The University of Exeter is research intensive and recognised internationally for its excellence. Here are a few reasons to be proud of Exeter:

- Exeter is in the premier league of universities, according to The Times and The Sunday Times university league tables.
- The University is fourth in the UK for student satisfaction among traditional universities.
- We have won three coveted Queen's Anniversary prizes for our research, most recently for the discovery of key genes relating to diabetes.
- The University is a major player in climate change research. We have a close relationship with the Exeter-based Met Office.
- Our Institute of Arab and Islamic Studies is a world leader in its field.
- We have an Office in Dubai, strong links with universities in China and international students from more than 100 countries worldwide.
