

Careers for Art History and Visual Culture graduates

With an Art History and Visual Culture degree from the University of Exeter, you'll be able to:

- analyse the art and visual culture of different time periods
- develop good imaginative powers and the ability to understand creative processes
- communicate effectively in an appropriate style and apply sustained written and oral arguments coherently and persuasively
- critically examine diverse forms of art and visual culture
- exercise independent thought and judgement in handling information and arguments in a critical and self-reflective manner
- work with others through team project and research work, negotiating collective arguments and solutions
- interpret, assess and evaluate sources
- lead and participate in discussions
- give persuasive and professional presentations
- work independently and to deadlines
- conduct individual research and project work

Where can your degree take you?

Skills, expertise and knowledge gained via an Art History and Visual Culture degree are relevant to pursuing careers in a broad range of sectors and will also prepare you for further study.

A degree in Art History and Visual Culture will also equip you with skills that will allow you to move into other areas of employment.

Here is a snapshot of the sectors, jobs, employers and further study programmes that our recent Humanities students have progressed to soon after graduation.

- Heritage
- Museums/Galleries
- Arts Management
- Consultancy
- Civil Service
- Education
- New Media Industries
- Journalism and Publishing
- Research
- Advertising
- Public Relations
- Teaching

Occupations

- Head of Marketing
- Trainee Gallery Curator
- Media Analyst
- Archives Assistant
- PR Executive
- Web Developer

Employers

- BBC
- Thomson Reuters
- National Trust
- Wall to Wall Productions
- Apple
- Bonhams 1793 Ltd (Auctioneers)
- Teach First

Further study

- Graduate Diploma in Law
- PGCE Primary and Secondary Teaching
- MA Film and Cinema
- MA Museum Studies
- MA Journalism
- MSc International Management