

With a Philosophy degree from the University of Exeter, you'll be able to:

- analyse difficult problems and think creatively
- demonstrate a deep understanding of some of the most complex issues and questions facing humankind
- show an aptitude for logical and conceptual analysis and reasoning about abstract matters
- identify, analyse and interpret complex information drawn from a variety of sources
- prepare and present an argument coherently and with authority
- demonstrate transferable skills relating to communication, organisation, teamwork and critical reasoning.

Where can your degree take you?

Skills, expertise and knowledge gained via a Philosophy degree are relevant if you want to pursue a career in academia, teaching, the media, government, the legal profession and a wide range of other careers.

A degree in Philosophy will also equip you with skills that will allow you to move in to other areas of employment.

Here is a snapshot of the jobs, employers and further study programmes that our recent Philosophy students have progressed to soon after graduation.

Occupations

- Operations Analyst
- Marketing Executive
- Management Accountant
- Primary Teacher
- Account Manager
- Recruitment Consultant
- Higher Executive Officer
- Equity Finance Analyst
- Senior Associate
- Event Manager
- Project Executive
- Legal Assistant
- Business Analyst
- Associate Producer

Employers

- JP Morgan
- Department of Health
- Dynamo PR
- HM Prison Service
- HSBC
- Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama
- Immediate Financial
- BOC
- Shorts TV
- Sandy Park Rugby Stadium
- Shelter
- Teach First

Further study

- Graduate Diploma in Law
- MA History of Political Thought
- MA Human Rights Law
- MSc European Political Economy
- MA Social and Political Studies
- MA Philosophy and Law
- PGCE Secondary Religious Education
- MA Theology
- MSc Economics and Policy of Energy and the Environment
- MA International Politics