

Researching your placement:

Where you go on your study placement is not simply about location, there are many factors to consider before deciding which institution you attend. This checklist will give you an overview of what to research before your placement.

Choosing the best University for you

- Research the modules at several institutions (if you have a choice of where you can study)
- Choose modules that you are interested in, you may wish to take modules that will help you with your dissertation research.
- How big is the Campus? How many students attend the institution?

Location

- Where is the university located? Is it in a city or a more rural location?
- What is the climate like? Are there extremes of temperature, humidity, pollution, allergens such as pollen?
- Look at Google Streetview to get an idea of what the area looks like
- Have you researched what leisure activities are available nearby, such as sports or arts?

Accommodation

- Does the host university have student accommodation?
- Is this available to incoming Erasmus/Study Abroad students?
- How much will it cost per month?
- If there is limited student accommodation, what private accommodation is available?
- What are the accommodation deadlines – make a note of these for future reference
- Factor accommodation costs into your budget

Finances

- Are you eligible for a travel grant from Student Finance UK?
- If you are in receipt of bursaries and additional funding, check with the University of Exeter funding team and Student Finance England/Wales to clarify if you are eligible to the additional funding whilst abroad.
- Research the average cost of living at your host country/institution – if it is more than what you would pay in Exeter, will you have enough money for living costs as well as the additional travel costs involved with studying abroad?
- Factor in the additional costs such as book supplies, mobile phone bills, administration fees and photocopying
- Have you checked the Scholarships page of the International Office website – are you eligible for to apply?
- Talk to students who have returned from studying abroad and find out about their experience
- Can you work part-time whilst on your placement?
- Budget for extra spending money for travelling and socialising
- How about working over the summer before your placement begins to help boost your study abroad fund?

For students studying in Europe:

An Erasmus grant is available to all students studying abroad in Europe. This will not cover all of your expenses whilst you are abroad.

Costs associated with studying abroad

- Return air fare (2 return air fares if you want to travel home for Christmas)
- Visa (if you are studying outside of Europe, or if you are an International Student you will need a visa)
- Travel and Health Insurance (this is compulsory). The University of Exeter offers a comprehensive insurance policy

Wellbeing

- If you are currently receiving support from AccessAbility or Wellbeing Services, it is essential that you discuss your plans for study abroad with your advisers at these services. You should research the support available at your host university and, with your advisers, consider how your requirements for support will continue to be met during your period of study abroad.

Communication

- Do you need to take a language course before you study abroad (if you are not a Modern Languages student)?
- There are courses available through the Foreign Language Centre

Current Affairs

- Check out local and national news websites for the country you are visiting
- Find out about the culture of the country you want to visit
