The Global Gas Challenge: Implications for the UK
28th February 2012
The Education Centre, Royal Geographical Society
Kensington Gore, London

10:00-10:30 Registration, tea and Coffee

10:30-10:45
Introductions
Professor Mike Bradshaw (University of Leicester and Vice-President Research and Higher Education, RGS-IBG)
Professor Catherine Mitchell, (University of Exeter and PI, ESMW Research Cluster)

10:45-11:00
The UK’s Global Gas Challenge: An Introduction
Professor Mike Bradshaw

11:00-11:40
International Gas Markets and GB Gas Security Policy
Dr Pierre Noel (EPRG, University of Cambridge)

11:40-12:20
Gas Pricing in Transition: different issues in different regions
Professor Jonathan Stern (Chairman Natural Gas Programme and Senior Research Fellow, Oxford Institute for Energy Studies).

12:20-1:00
The New Energy Orient
John Mitchell (Associate Fellow, Energy, Environment and Development Programme, Chatham House).

1:00-2:00 Lunch Break

2:00-2:40
Challenges to Sustaining the Shale Gas Revolution
Joseph Dutton (Department of Geography, University of Leicester)

2:40-3:20
The Global LNG Business in Transition
David Ledesma (Senior Research Fellow, Oxford Institute for Energy Studies and Independent Consultant South-Court Ltd).

3:20-3:40 Tea Break

3:40-4:30
The Global Gas Challenge: A Panel Discussion
Chair: Professor Mike Bradshaw
Dieter Krapp (General Manager, LNG, CIS & Europe, Shell)
Kersti Berge (Head of GB Markets, Ofgem)
Jim Watson (Professor of Energy Policy, SPRU, University of Sussex)