Nicholas Bull, Chairman of the Campaign Board

Dear Fellow donor,

It is an enormous pleasure for me to provide the preface the Report to Donors 2009/10. As Chairman of the Campaign Board, I would like to thank you personally for your commitment and devotion to Exeter. The Campaign Board members are themselves giving their financial support, time and expertise to help the University's campaign to succeed.

As you will read in this year's report, more than 1,800 alumni have given their support and time in the last year to help the University and its campaign. As the stories in the Report demonstrate, our support to the University is having a lasting impact.

Your time and gifts are helping us to secure Exeter's long term future as a world-class university, with world-class graduates, research and campuses. In fact I don't believe it is possible for a university to be world class without the active engagement and support of its alumni. On behalf of the University of Exeter, the Campaign Board and our students, thank you.

Nicholas Bull (Chemistry 1973)
Chairman of the Campaign Board

Professor Steve Smith, Vice-Chancellor

Dear Fellow donor,

As Vice-Chancellor and Chief Executive of your University, I am delighted to introduce the Donor Report 2009/10. Exeter has come a long way in a few short years: no other UK university has seen as rapid an upward trajectory. We have achieved this together with the support of staff, students, friends and alumni.

Our ambition to transform Exeter into a world-class university, offering world-class campuses and producing world-class research and graduates is becoming a reality. To fully achieve this, we must become more self-sufficient and less reliant on public funding.

Earlier this year, we launched our first major campaign: 'Creating a world-class University together' which has been quietly building support and momentum for some time. We are already well on our way to achieving our campaign targets by summer 2012. Thank you to all of you who have contributed – the commitment you have shown to your university is inspiring. We are doing all we can to ensure that the investment you make is maximised and I look forward to inviting you to come together in the Forum to celebrate the success of our campaign.

Thank you,

Professor Steve Smith AcSS
Vice-Chancellor and Chief Executive, University of Exeter

Summary of the Year

Thank you

We would like to thank you for your kind donations to the University of Exeter this year. In recognition of your support, our donor list contains the names of everyone who has made a gift or given their time and expertise to the University between 1 August 2009 and 31 July 2010.

We are also very grateful to our donors who have requested anonymity for their donations, to those who have given through payroll giving, and to individuals who have told us that they have made a pledge to the University in their wills. We have made every effort to record your name correctly. If there are any errors please do let us know so that we can correct them.

£7 million raised

Philanthropy is changing the shape of your University. Donations are providing state of the art facilities for teaching and research. Your support is also enhancing our students' experiences through investment in societies and sports facilities, as well as providing opportunities for students to volunteer in the community and increase their employment prospects.

In 2009/2010 you have helped raise £7 million towards the University. Your donations will ensure that Exeter's students experience a world-class education. This report illustrates some of the many ways your gifts are making a difference.

Your donations are going even further. The UK Government's Matched Funding Scheme is continuing to match donations to universities like Exeter, encouraging donors throughout the world to support UK higher education. The scheme means that donations received by the University of Exeter before July 2011 are eligible for a 1:3 match; for every £3 you donate, the Government will match it with a further £1.

Thank You

Creating a world-class University together

The University launched its campaign: 'Creating a world-class University together', earlier this year. Our campaign aims to raise £23 million, secure 250 legacy pledges and recruit 2,012 hours of volunteering for the University.

The campaign was launched at a series of events in the UK and overseas, including the Alumni Gala Dinner in London in May, and at the Gulf Alumni Dinner in Sharjah, United Arab Emirates, in March.

Since launching our campaign we have made further progress towards reaching our targets.

More than 4,000 alumni and supporters of the University have together contributed £18.68 million, pledged 180 legacy pledges and volunteered over 1,900 hours of their time towards the campaign.

More than two hundred alumni and friends of the University attended the Gala Dinner which was held in the beautiful surroundings of the Inner Temple, London.

Our campaign priorities are:

- world-class campuses – raising £15 million to build world-class facilities for our students and academics
- world-class research – raising £5 million to increase our research capacity and ensure that our academics produce research that is world-leading
- world-class graduates – raising £3 million to ensure that we recruit the very best students and that they have the opportunity to fulfill their potential.

You can support the campaign by:

- making a donation – target to raise £23 million;
- pledging a legacy – target number of pledges 250;
- volunteering your time and expertise – target number of hours 2,012.

For more information about the campaign see:

College of Benefactors

The University is honoured to welcome three further members into its College of Benefactors. Mr Peter Jewell, Dr Ian Henderson and the Garfield Weston Foundation were inducted into the College at graduation ceremonies during the Summer of 2010.

Induction into the College is the highest honour that the University can bestow upon its donors. Established in 2006, membership to the College gives public recognition to the University's greatest benefactors.

World-class graduates

The Annual Fund makes a difference

The Annual Fund supported over thirty five projects throughout 2009/10, the following projects provide an overview of what your support has achieved. For details on all projects funded through the Annual Fund this year please visit www.exeter.ac.uk/campaign/theannualfund/annualfunddisbursement. The Annual Fund disburses funds raised twice a year through a panel of representatives made up of academic and professional service staff, donors to the Annual Fund and student representative. The Panel make recommendations as to which projects should receive funding. If you would like to become involved with the Disbursement Panel please contact Louise Mackay at l.a.mackay@exeter.ac.uk or call 01392 725013.

Chaplaincy Choir Scholarships

Gifts fund Chapel Choir Scholarships at Exeter. The University of Exeter offers a full and diverse range of musical expression and the scholarships ensure that worship at the University Chapel is led by musicians of outstanding musical ability. The group performs on campus in Exeter and at other prestigious UK venues and often has the opportunity to tour abroad. Singing in the Chapel Choir enables students to become familiar with a wide range of liturgical and sacred musical texts from the English and Continental tradition of choral music on a regular performance basis. Funding for such scholarships mean that students studying subjects other than music, who wish to perform regularly to a high musical standard, can exercise and develop their musical gifts.

“ The FX-Pedition project dramatically enhances the student experience, as well as providing a platform for employment-enhancing work experience that is unrivalled at other institutions. ”

Paul Beerling, College Manager, College of Social Sciences and International Studies

Going for Gold

Students across the University's three campuses will have the opportunity to interact with three different Olympic and Paralympic medal winners, who will visit the University and present inspirational lectures to students. The 'Going for Gold' project aims to raise awareness and interest in the London 2012 Olympic Games by inviting motivational speakers to talk about their experience and hopes for the Games. Students will also be provided with information on the opportunities to get involved in volunteering for 2012 and learn about both the cultural and sporting events that will be held locally. This project will use the 2012 Games to boost students' aspirations and to learn more about what is involved in being an Olympic champion.

FX-Pedition-Heart of Borneo Project

Donors are supporting the work of the FX-Pedition-Heart of Borneo Project, a multi-disciplinary team of recent graduates from the University of Exeter's Cornwall Campus who will spend 12 weeks in the region of Kalimantan, Borneo. The team hopes to uncover new findings for this region and discover new species. The expedition will provide a learning platform for large numbers of students at the Cornwall Campus to gain professional and personal development. The team will create a virtual learning environment (VLE) by uploading videos from the jungle onto a website to create an interactive virtual expedition experience to educate and inspire young people and policymakers from around the world. On their return they will create a documentary of their experiences, which they hope will be broadcast on a major network.

FX-Pedition-Heart of Borneo Project, from the University of Exeter's Cornwall Campus in the region of Kalimantan, Borneo.

Class of 2010

Led by a student committee, with support from the University's Development and Alumni Relations Office, the Class of 2010 raised money in support of their very own chosen project: contributing toward the refurbishment of the Ram Bar. Over the spring and summer terms, culminating in graduation week, the Class of 2010 Committee raised £1,000. More than 240 students, (7% of the Class of 2010) donated towards this fund. All those who donated were invited to a drinks reception in the Long Lounge prior to the Graduation Ball. Members of the Committee, led by Chair Bertie Archer (Politics 2010), presented a cheque to the University's Chancellor, Baroness Floella Benjamin OBE DL Hon DLitt, at the Graduation Ball, on behalf of all student donors.

Telethon

In 2009/10, 64 students were recruited to call alumni during our annual telethon campaign. Students called over 15,000 alumni in 14 different countries across the world, achieving a pledge total of over £100,000. Student Callers received more than 70 offers of volunteering and responded to over 1,000 alumni requests. Thank you to everyone who spoke to a Student Caller, your conversations and advice are truly valuable to our students.

Student Family Book Fund

The Student Family Book Fund is the annual appeal to parents of final-year students. This year £6,471.25 was raised through the appeal. The fund offers families of our current final-year students a unique opportunity to support academic achievement at Exeter, by contributing to the Library collections. Each book donated will bear a special graduation bookplate including the student's name and his or her degree.

World-class research

The University of Exeter's research makes a real impact on the world. Our academics produce research which is at the very forefront of meeting global challenges: fighting hunger, tackling climate change, exploring the universe and fostering global understanding.

Eighty nine percent of Exeter's research is rated as 'internationally recognised' and 17 percent is 'world class' (National Research Assessment Exercise, 2008)

Donation supports renewable energy research

The Wates Family Enterprise Trust, the foundation set up by the owners of The Wates Group, one of the UK's foremost privately owned construction and development companies, has generously donated £60,000 over the next three years to establish The Wates Family Postgraduate Scholarship in renewable energies, located within the College of Engineering, Mathematics and Physical Sciences at Exeter's Cornwall Campus.

The University's renewable energy group explores pioneering research across a range of renewable energy topics including marine renewables, bio-fuels, electrical power and networks, distributed generation and the effects of climate change, wind, photo-voltaic and thermal technologies.

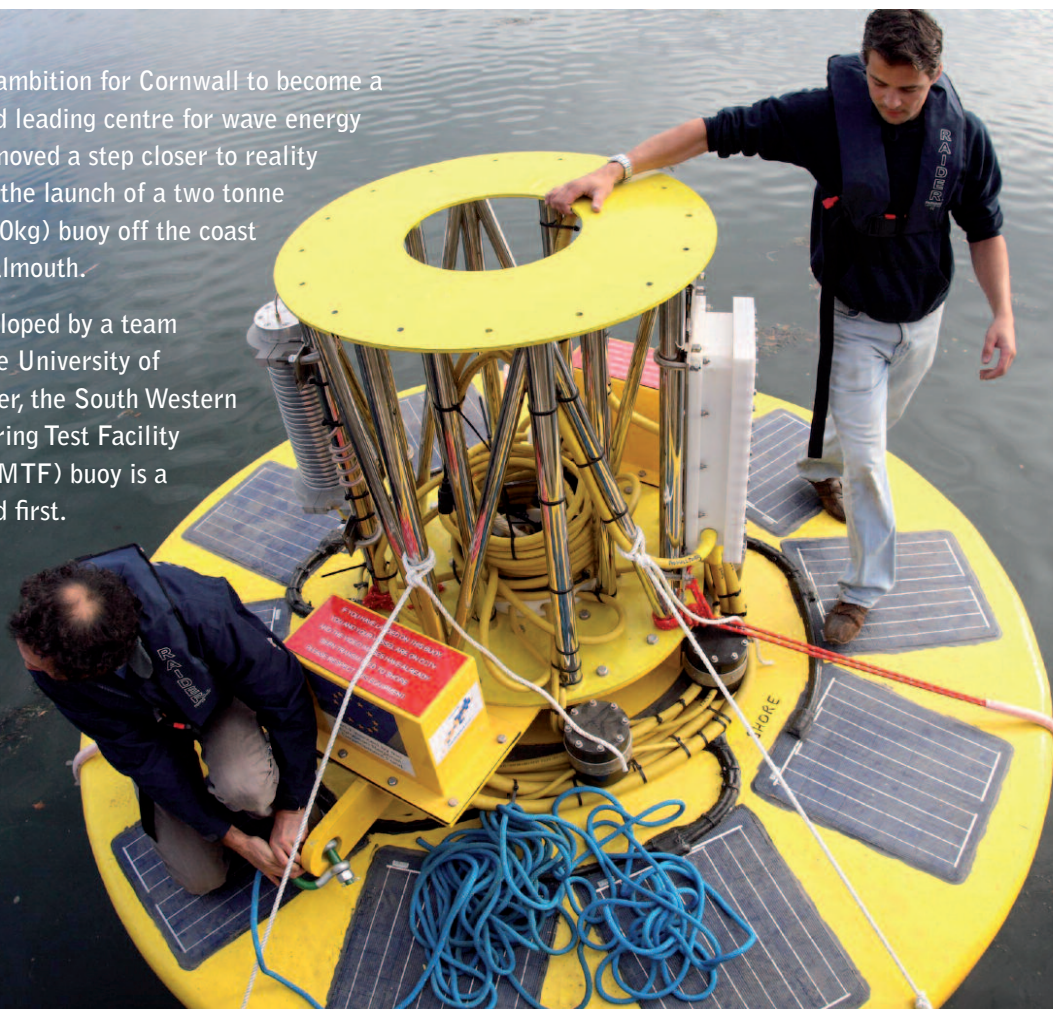

Current research is exploring the creation of electricity and heat in domestic premises through a range of microgeneration technologies including small-scale wind turbines, micro hydro, photovoltaic solar systems, plant microbial fuel cells and ground source heat pumps. The microgeneration of energy has the potential to become a major contributor to our national efforts to hit international targets for deploying renewable energy and reducing emissions of climate change gases.

The newly appointed Wates Family Research Scholar, Alfonso P. Ramallo Gonzalez, is conducting research across a theoretical and industrial perspective into the application of current renewable microgeneration technologies and techniques for the design of sustainable housing. His PhD will aim to develop generic tools which will simplify the assessment of potential benefit of installing microgeneration technologies across a range properties types and diverse energy consumers.

Creating a world-class
University
together
University of Exeter Campaign

The ambition for Cornwall to become a world leading centre for wave energy has moved a step closer to reality with the launch of a two tonne (2000kg) buoy off the coast of Falmouth.

Developed by a team at the University of Exeter, the South Western Mooring Test Facility (SWMTF) buoy is a world first.

The Forum

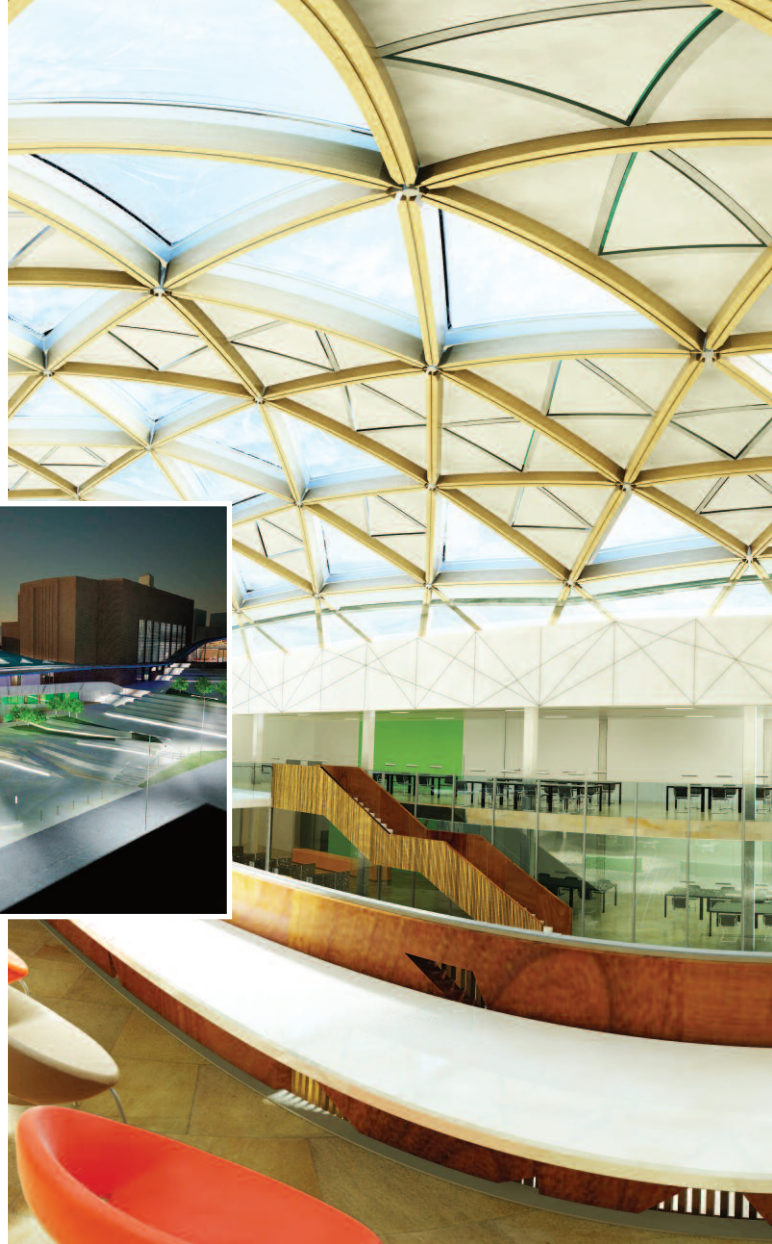

Our ambitious campaign aims to raise support for two 'flagship' projects – the Forum and the University of Exeter Business School.

Exeter is undertaking the most significant redevelopment of the University since the 1960s – investing £275 million in our campuses. This includes a £48 million redevelopment of the centre of the Streatham Campus called the Forum and a £25 million investment in the Business School. Through this programme, with the Forum project at its heart, we will change the University's Streatham Campus forever.

The Forum is designed to provide a new heart for the Streatham Campus. The development will connect the University Library, Devonshire House and the Great Hall under a curving roof, providing teaching and learning spaces, a student services centre, retail catering outlets, and a new four hundred seat lecture theatre, which will be the largest on campus.

Donations to the Forum have raised over £6 million to-date.

The Business School

Alumni are helping us to build a world-class Business School. A new £18 million building is being constructed which will provide teaching and research spaces. The building will open in early 2011.

In July 2010, alumni, honorary graduates and staff met to mark the support of Ian Henderson for the Business School. They joined Ian and Jean Henderson at the University of Exeter Business School for a ceremony to celebrate the naming of the Henderson Lecture Theatre in the School's Centre for Finance and Investment, Xfi.

The Henderson Lecture Theatre is the largest teaching space in the Business School and is used by the School's undergraduate, postgraduate taught and research students as well as those undertaking an MBA.

www.exeter.ac.uk/campaign/campuses/business

Generous philanthropist, Ian and Jean Henderson open the new Henderson Lecture Theatre.

Help us meet the Business School “Triple Match” Challenge

An anonymous UK foundation has pledged a grant of up to £1 million to the University of Exeter. The grant is available as matched funding for gifts to the University of Exeter Business School received by 30 June 2011.

The Foundation will match gifts with a further £1 for every £2 received. This will also be matched by the UK Government’s matched funding scheme. It means that gifts to the Business School received by 30 June 2011 will be worth up to 2½ times more.

All new regular gifts of at least £10 per month and all single gifts of at least £1,000 received by 30 June 2011 will be matched by the Foundation. The maximum amount of a single gift that will be matched is £250,000.

This extraordinary opportunity to make a huge difference to the lives of future students is time-limited. The matched funding is only available until the end of June 2011. We need your support now.

www.exeter.ac.uk/campaign/campuses/business/business-schooltriple-matchchallenge/

The University is grateful to all those alumni who have supported us by volunteering their time and expertise. For the first time we have listed below the names of those whom we are aware have volunteered between 1 August 2008 and 31 July 2009. We have made every effort to record your name correctly. If there are any errors or if your name has been omitted, please do tell us so that we can update our records. If you would prefer to be listed anonymously in future, please do let us know.

Andrew Rickards pictured left (Engineering Science 1984) is one of a growing number of alumni who are supporting our campaign to build philanthropic support for the University of Exeter Business School. Andrew currently lives in Hong Kong and is taking a leading role in bringing together senior alumni in Asia and asking them to support the University and Business School. Andrew himself has made a donation in support of the School's ambitions, and continues to inspire others to follow suit.

The University is grateful to all those alumni who have supported us by volunteering their time and expertise between 1 August 2009 and 31 July 2010.

Thank You Volunteers

How you can support the Campaign

Remember us in your Will

We are delighted that Hugh MacDougald (Law 1976), Partner at Winckworth Sherwood, has agreed to become Chair of the Devonshire Circle, a group of alumni and friends that have chosen to support the University by leaving a gift in their Wills. Hugh's background in private client work, including trusts and probate, should prove invaluable in shaping our legacy fundraising efforts for the next three years. Hugh is a legacy pledger himself and looks forward to meeting with others who have included the University in their Wills as well as those who are considering supporting Exeter with a legacy. Hugh will also be overseeing and establishing the University's general endowment fund.

“ I decided to take the Devonshire Circle role because not only did I thoroughly enjoy my time at Exeter, but I was really impressed by the University's progress and its ambitious plans for the future. I believe that, together, my legacy and the legacies of others will truly contribute to the continued success of our University and to the lives of many students that are yet to study here. ”

Supporters have donated over 1,900 hours of their time and expertise to the University.

Donating your time and expertise

Alumni can also support the Campaign by sharing their time and expertise. This is of particular importance in helping us to produce world-class University of Exeter graduates and maximising their employment and prospects in an increasingly challenging global marketplace.

Alumni returned to the University recently during the Widen Your Options fortnight to help students improve their employability. Alumni participated in a wide range of activities aimed at helping students take their first step on the career ladder. The events covered a range of careers including politics, marketing, journalism, advertising, sales, the charity sector, copywriting and setting up a business. At one of the events, five alumni who are now working in journalism participated in a question and answer panel discussion focusing on a career in journalism.

“It was great to return to Exeter – the first time since I graduated – it brought back some brilliant memories.”

“I was really happy to speak to current students about my experiences in journalism and hope that it helped to open their eyes to the wide variety of career paths which are available to them.” (Sarah Mason (History 1997) News of the World ‘Fabulous’ magazine Assistant Editor.

A total of 19 alumni returned to Exeter to volunteer during the Widen Your Options fortnight, which took place between 22 February and 5 March 2010.

Members of the Devonshire Circle

We are very grateful to the following alumni and supporters who informed us during the period 1 August 2009 and 31 July 2010 of their intention to leave a legacy to the University.

Why we need your help

We hope that as alumni and friends of the University you will share in our vision for the future. Every pound that you donate or legacy that you pledge will fund world-class facilities, provide scholarships and support projects to promote research and teaching that will change the world for the better.

Every hour of your time that you give will help equip our students to be the leaders of tomorrow.

If you would like further information on how you can become more involved with the University of Exeter Campaign, 'Creating a world-class University together', or would like to make a donation, please contact: Development and Alumni Relations Office, University of Exeter, Northcote House, The Queen's Drive, Exeter EX4 4QJ

The University of Exeter's sculpture collection has been boosted by the arrival of Peter Randall-Page's Flayed Stone II which is on loan for five years. Peter is one of Britain's pre-eminent sculptors and was recently made an honorary Doctor of Letters by the University.

He hopes the sculpture, which has been placed to the side of the Northcott Theatre, will become an object of 'contemplation and meditation that helps people think of the natural world in a fresh way'.

Front cover: Pictured Honorary Graduate Ian Henderson and current student Dan Schieber a sailor from the University's sailing club. The Gala Dinner which was held at the Inner Temple, London.
