

Political Theory Reading Group

Autumn 2020 Programme

Wednesday 21 October 12.30-14.00

Rob Lamb (Politics, Exeter) will introduce a discussion on:
Pauline Kleingeld, 'On Dealing with Kant's Sexism and Racism', Society for German Idealism and Romanticism Review 2:2 (2019): 3-22.

Wednesday 28 October 12.30-14.00

Ross Carroll (Politics, Exeter) will introduce a discussion on:
Three pieces by Frederick Douglass. "The Slaveholders rebellion" of 1862, and two other brief pieces concerning his response to Lincoln's Presidency.

Wednesday 4 November 12.30-14.00

Jonathan Wolff (Oxford), "An ethical framework for global vaccine allocation"
[Professor Jonathan Wolff will introduce a discussion on a paper he has co-authored with others: E. J. Emanuel et al., Science 10.1126/science.abe2803 (2020)]

Wednesday 18 November 12.30-14.00

Sabina Leonelli (Egenis, Philosophy, Exeter) will present a paper on:
"Mobilizing the Transnational History of Knowledge Flows. COVID-19 and the Politics of Research at the Borders"
[Co-authored with Professor John Krieger (Exeter and Georgia Institute of Technology)].

Wednesday 25 November 12.30-14.00

Robin Durie (Politics, Exeter) will chair a discussion on:
"Loneliness at the time of Covid-19"
with the participation of colleagues from the University of Exeter who are currently doing research on this theme.