

Returning from Interruption

RETURN TO STUDY CHECKLIST

Please read prior to your return

How do I register on my return?

The PGR Admin team will have sent you details of how to re-register. If you have any difficulties you can contact the team who will be able to help you : pgradmin@exeter.ac.uk

What happens with my tuition fees when I return?

If you have any difficulties paying for your fees you will need to contact the Student Finance team, or the Student Guild/Union can provide advice

What support will I receive on my return?

Wellbeing

To assist with your return to study, you may benefit from accessing support from the Wellbeing team to discuss any support needs including any transfer of care requirements.

You may also benefit from having an ILP (Individual Learning Plan) in place (this can be discussed more at the return to study meeting with the Education Welfare Advisor). If you already have an ILP, this may be a good time to update it.

Supervision and Research

Contact your supervisory team to alert them to your intention to return

Look at the research events in your College, department, and PGR networks so you can plan how to re-engage in the research community

Look at the Doctoral College Researcher Development resources to identify relevant training and support to assist your return to research: Training and development | Doctoral College | University of Exeter

How do I access a GP/medical care?

If you are not registered with a GP, you are encouraged to register with one in the local area

I'm a Parent/Carer returning to study - is there any additional support for me?

If you are a parent or carer there is a supportive network available offering Informal drop-in session for staff and postgraduate students, providing a space to catch-up and an opportunity to discuss relevant issues. Networks are available at both Exeter and Penryn
